EIGHT bodies were the presidential helicopter that recovered from the rain-soaked wreckage of crashed Tuesday, April 7 with eight people aboard, all aides of President Macapagal-Arroyo, in a thickly forested area in Ifugao, officials reported.

Malacañang confirmed that there were no survivors in the crash of the Bell 412 presidential chopper which was ferrying the President's aides from Baguio City to Banaue before it went missing.

"There are no survivors. We mourn this great and profound loss. We laud them; they died in the line of duty, a true testament of true public service. Their service and patriotism will be remembered," Undersecretary Lorelei Fajardo, deputy presidential spokesperson, said last April 8.

"We commiserate with their families and offer our deepest condolences," she added.

Initial reports already indicated that there were no survivors in the crash at Barangay Eheb in Tinoc municipality, but the President in an earlier statement said she was hoping that there were other passengers in the helicopter still alive.

"We're still confirming the identities even as we continue to search for the other five passengers," said Ms Arroyo in Baguio City, where she was spending Holy Week.

Only three bodies were recovered at the time the President issued her statement at the presidential mansion, but police Senior Superintendent Danilo Pelisco said other fatalities were retrieved in the afternoon and evening, and last Thursday, April 9.

The passengers included Undersecretaries Marilou Frostrom and Jose Capadocia Jr., who would have formed the advance team for Ms Arroyo's inspection of road projects in Bontoc in Mt. Province and Banaue in Ifugao.

Also aboard were Assistant Director Perlita Bandyanon of the
