

FASO, thanks for the music and the memories!

Last Sunday, May 17, 2009, a 4.7 earthquake hit the Los Angeles area. For about 10 or 15 seconds it was felt as far as San Diego. It was not just another day. At the Saban Theatre in Beverly Hills, an event of a different magnitude moved the audience in such a magical way never before felt by the community. All at once, that brief shining moment illuminated the corners of our hearts and our memories. It was almost mystical. It was an experience so extraordinary, so unforgettable, so moving, it was felt as far as the heart could remember. It was a good day to be a Filipino in America.

It was the gala performance of the Filipino-American Symphony Orchestra. In one magnificent evening, their music changed our lives forever.

Thank you for the music and the memories.

Bravo FASO!
